Profile

I'm a final year BA architecture student studying at Plymouth University with a goal to become a fully qualified architect and advance my skills by working alongside professionals. I am a hard-working student, always working on time to meet deadlines. I enjoy stretching my creative abilities in each design project through drawing techniques or developing my skills on computer modelling programmes such as Revit. Within my course I enjoy researching the site and who I am designing for, as being able to speak to the client or the public is key in being able to develop a successful project. My positive attitude and confidence within the course was personally acknowledged by the Year 1 program leader after being invited to work as a student ambassador for my school. This continued into my second year where I was also selected to guide students in the digital fabrication suite. Communication and teamworking skills that I developed through previously working in retail, has aided me through my course by being able to communicate my design ideas well and working efficiently within groups. I hope to use these skills and develop them further working as a Part 1 Architectural Assistant.
